HOW TO BATHE IN WINTER.

Some Valuable Hints from a Physician on an Important Subject.

"I will tell you how to get a Russian steam bath at home that will be nearly as satisfactory as if you paid $1 for it at an hammam," said the physician. "Just have a big firebrick heated red hot in the kitchen range and place it upon an iron stool or some such thing. Then stand a chair over the stool. Sit down on the chair and have a four leaved screen put around you, with a blanket thrown over the top. Thus you will find yourself in a sort of closet, and, having been previously provided with a jug of hot water, you amuse yourself by pouring it very slowly over the hot brick. The water, transformed immediately into steam, fills the inclosed space and at once induces violent perspiration."

"It would take more than $1 to induce me to go through such a self inflicted ordeal," remarked The Star reporter. "A cold bath is good enough for me."

"Do you mean cold air or cold water?"

"Why, cold water, of course; I never heard of such a thing as a cold air bath."

"Cold air baths are excellent, nevertheless, and I strongly recommend them as a tonic for persons who are not strong enough to indulge in cold water. In taking one the bather should open a bedroom window wide—upon rising in the morning is the proper time—and stand in the cold air perfectly nude, meanwhile rubbing the limbs and body vigorously with a dry towel. There is no danger of catching cold, even when the thermometer is down to zero outside, for the reason that the sensitive pores of the skin contract under the exposure so as to make it a first rate protection.

"As for cold water baths, I deem them excellent for people of abundant vitality, but the trouble is that very many who take them are not strong enough to endure their effects. Nobody who is in the least delicate should ever touch cold water for bathing purposes. In the case of a robust individual, the blood driven from the surface of the body by cold water comes quickly rushing back again under the ministrations of a brisk rub and a delightful glow is felt. But a weakly person, whose vital organs are not sufficiently vigorous to send the blood swiftly back to the superficial blood vessels, fails to experience the health betokening 'reaction' and is very apt to feel a faintness instead. However, there are mild ways of taking cold water baths which do very well in winter, as well as in summer, for those who are only moderately vigorous."

"Such as what, doctor?"

"The mildest process is simply to dip a towel in cold water and wet only one portion of the body at a time, taking the parts successively—first an arm, then a leg, and so on until the ablution is completed, each part being rubbed dry before the next is moistened. In this way shock is avoided. For a reasonably strong person the best plan is to use a towel sopped in cold water in the ordinary fashion, with a thorough rubbing, of course, to follow. But do not indulge in any of this nonsense in the way of harsh towels and flesh brushes, which merely serve to get up a local irritation: soft towels are much better to rub with. A gentler method of cold bathing than the plunge, and a very good one, is to stand up in the tub and squeeze a sponge over your head; a disadvantage of this plan is that it is rather too shivery to be comfortable. The kind of bath I usually advise, unless the patient is weakly, consists in going over the entire body, after getting up each morning, with a towel wrung out in cold water as quickly as possible, the dry rub following. In rubbing after a bath the attention should be given almost wholly to the limbs; the body circulation is active enough to take care of itself."

"How about hot baths?"

"Hot baths should not be too hot, and they should not be stayed in long, else the effect will be to partially paralyze the little blood vessels that form a network all over the body beneath the skin, thus disordering the circulation. You can see this effect for yourself by observing how quickly the fingers become wrinkled at the extremities when held in hot water, the blood leaving the surface. The best time to take warm baths is at night, and two a week are plenty for the purpose of cleanliness. Bathing is frequently overdone by people who are over nice about their persons. Turkish baths should not be taken on cold days, unless the bather is very remarkably robust, and never more than once a week. I am not in favor of too much bathing."

A New Italian Coin.

A dollar is to be struck in Italy, larger in size and greater in value than the familiar five lire piece. The old Marie Therese is to be the model. Even in coins, and even in Italy, they seem to be going back to the old patterns. The Marie Therese thaler is not now so unusual as it used to be. There is a tendency in coins to locate themselves. To this day the forty franc pieces of the first Napoleon, rare in the north of France and not often met in Paris, are in free circulation on the Riviera. The new coin will, of course, have on the reverse the familiar effigy of King Humbert and be surrounded by an inscription setting forth the Italian sovereignty over its African possessions.—American Banker.

WHO WOULD BE A KING?

How Some of Europe's Crowned Heads Wearily Drag Through Life.

The recent death of the king of Portugal reminds one that the emperors and kings of this earth are, taking them all round, a very unhealthy and unhappy set of people. Such a thing as a jolly monarch, with a good digestion, is scarcely to be found. The czar suffers horribly from his nerves, and is at times hypochondriacal; the empress is as much tortured by nerves as her husband, and has long periods of intense prostration. The emperor of Austria is healthy enough, but he is a sad man, for the empress has been during the last ten years a martyr to sciatica and rheumatic fevers, and her mind has been affected to the extent of making her capricious, hysterical and melancholy.

She belongs to that Wittelsbach family, in whose blood there is a taint of insanity, which broke out in King Louis of Bavaria, in the present King Otto and in the late Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria. The king of Wurtemburg, too, is more than half crazy, and King Milan of Servia must be added to the list of sovereigns whom nervosity renders well nigh irresponsible for their actions. In King Milan's case, as in the czar's and the sultan's, the fear of assassination has been the main determining cause of mental disorder. The predecessors of all three were murdered, and the world does not hold three more wretched, nightmare haunted men than the czar, the Sultan Abdul Hamid and King Milan.

The German emperor has some very distressing physical ailments. He has an impotent left hand, and he suffers from periodical suppurations of the left ear, which sometimes make him frantic with pain and afterwards dizzy from sleeplessness. The king of Spain is a baby, but his father, Alfonso XII., ruined his constitution by excesses of all kinds and during the last year of his life could be kept going only by champagne and opiates. The king of Holland offers another example of a ruined constitution, but the process of destruction took longer with him than with Alfonso, for he had a stronger constitution to start with. Since his second marriage, however, the king of Holland has been an irritable invalid, admirably attended, indeed, by his young wife, but always ailing, suffering, grumbling, and now he has sunk into dotage. The king of Italy suffers from a gastric derangement, brought on, as his doctors say, by too much smoking of rank tobacco of Virginia, and he has to diet himself with milk, light broth and stewed fruits.

The queen of England and the kings of Sweden, Denmark, Roumania, Greece and Belgium are the only sovereigns who can be said to enjoy the blessings of the sound mind in the sound body. Leopold of Belgium, however, is lame, and King Charles of Roumania, though healthy himself, has been made very miserable by the nervous malady of his wife, Queen Elizabeth, who for a long time was haunted by hallucinations which brought her to the verge of insanity. Altogether, it will be seen that in the imperial and royal families there are very few persons whom—all political risks apart—an insurance company's physician would certify as having "first class lives."—Berlin Cor. New York Post.

At Windsor Castle.

The redecoration of the corridor of Windsor Castle has just been completed at a cost of several thousand pounds. The work has been constantly in progress all the year except when the queen has been at the castle. The new design, which was chosen by Princess Beatrice, is of sage green. In the corridor are a large number of splendid cabinets, many of which are filled with china, one set of Rose Du Barri being valued at £20,000. At the upper end of the corridor is a bust of Gordon, close to which is his pocket Bible, inclosed in crystal. Guests for the queen's dinner party invariably assemble in the corridor, as the oak room, where her majesty lunches and dines, opens from it, and close to the door hangs Professor Angeli's celebrated portrait of Beaconsfield, next to it being a curious portrait of George II.

The queen's private apartments are in the immediate vicinity of the corridor, and three drawing rooms, the white, the green and the red, open from it. The decoration of the corridor is the most important work of the kind that has been carried out in the private apartments since the grand dining room at the northeast corner of the castle was splendidly redecorated in cream and gold, just before the jubilee. This room contains a magnificent carved sideboard of rosewood, and also a gold punch bowl and ladle for which George IV paid 10,000 guineas.—Toronto Globe.

Prince Albert Victor, eldest son of the Prince of Wales, will soon begin housekeeping for himself in the apartments in St. James' palace which were occupied for forty years by the late Duchess of Cambridge. All the rooms are now being redecorated for the new occupant.

The czar has a new traveling train. The saloons are covered with iron outside and then come eight inches of cork instead of the steel plates with which the carriages of the old train were protected. All the saloons communicate by a covered passage, and are exactly the same in outward appearance, so that no outsider may be able to discover in which carriage the czar is traveling.

KINDNESS FOR ANIMALS.

A Woman's Life Devoted to Charity, from Which Sprang the Boys' S. P. A.

The will of the late Mrs. Rebecca Willing, widow of Dr. Charles Willing, and who was buried from her residence, near Jenkintown, recently, provides many charitable bequests.

Conspicuous among the number is that to the "Young American Humane union," to which she gives her house, 916 Spruce street, in "Portico row," for the maintenance of a reading room.

Mrs. Willing was the daughter of Hon. J. L. Tillinghast, of Rhode Island, and at the time of her marriage was considered one of the most beautiful women and one of the greatest belles of society in the eastern part of the United States. Endowed with great wealth and occupying high social position, she devoted herself to works of philanthropy. She founded, among other institutions, the first day nursery in Philadelphia, if not in the country. But she had a special life work, a favorite theory and a peculiar form of benevolence. She did not believe that kindness was limited to the human race, but should be extended to the dumb creatures of the field and the domestic pets of the hearthstone. Her theory was preventive rather than reparative. Instead of founding animal asylums, or hospitals, she believed in educating the masses from the tenderest age of childhood in humane principles, and was largely instrumental in inducing the board of public education to confine the teaching of kindness to the brute creation, as part of the course of school instruction, and to supply, with the smallest possible encroachment upon time, and without expense to the schools, the simple system of humane education, which has been already accepted by teachers and directors in many sections, comprising great numbers of schools. In this work she was the pioneer in this country.

Encouraged by the principal and the directors of the Locust street schools, in 1874 she formed a society among the boys of the Grammar school, with the watchwords, "Reverence, Kindness, Courage," and with the purpose of cultivating among themselves habits of kindness, as well as protecting from cruelty whatever needed their care. It was called the "Boys' Society for the Protection of Animals," and held occasional school meetings, under the guidance of the principal, who was president of the branch in his own school.

There was recitation or reading of humane literature such as Longfellow's poem, "The Alarm Bell of Atri;" the banner, the color of which represented that branch, was hung up, new members were enrolled by the presentation of a badge, there was a short address, and books, papers and cards were distributed for home reading. This simple organization gradually extended with the sanction of teachers and directors and the strenuous efforts of Mrs. Willing to seven boys' grammar schools, carrying humane literature to thousands of homes. A reading room was provided where many excellent books and magazines could be enjoyed in the intervals of school hours and on holidays, and the "Boys' S. P. A." became a source of interest and enjoyment as well as an influence for good.

About the same time the Band of Mercy movement was organized in England, and during the next eighteen months rapidly extended. In the meantime Hon. George T. Angell and Rev. Thomas Timmins introduced the English Band of Mercy into the schools and homes of New England, and the Boys' society, founded in Philadelphia by Mrs. Willing, followed their action by establishing one in this city, which within three years had reached a membership of 8,000, gathered by their own efforts and those of the committee of ladies, under the leadership of Mrs. Willing; working with them in mission schools, orphan homes, Sunday scools of all denominations and public schools. The membership of the boys' society being equally large, and its earlier members having come to manhood, the two departments were in 1884 consolidated under the name of "The Young American Humane union." Its members, believing humane education to be the most important part of the work of mercy, direct their efforts mainly to this object, and seek its furtherance by all the means in their power, having the firm conviction that every step in teaching mercy is a step to prevent crime.—Philadelphia Press.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS

A statement showing the amount of money expended by the Dominion Government, on buildings, erected or purchased, in each Province, since Confederation to June 30th, 1889 as called for by an order of the House of Commons, dated January 23rd, 1890, has been issued by Hon. J. A. Chapleau, Secretary of State. A glance at the expenditure in some of the towns in the North West, may be interesting to Moose Jaw citizens. The Industrial School, Land and Registry Offices, Lieutenant Governor's Residence, Police Barracks and Stipendiary Magistrate's Office, at Battleford, cost $246,242.48. The Court House, Immigrant Shed and Police Barracks at Calgary, cost $63,413.96. McLeod received $89,179.71, in Police Barracks and Custom House; Medicine Hat $34,977 for Barracks and Immigrant Shed. Lethbridge Police Barracks cost $48,663.82. The Court House, Jail and Barracks at Prince Albert cost $110,811.51, and the Immigrant Shed, Industrial School and Barracks at Qu-Appelle, $72,435.14. Regina, being the Capital, of course receives the lion's share of the expenditure. Up to June 30th, 1889, there was expended on public buildings in Regina, $320,819.31. This sum does not include the cost of Lieutenant Governor's new residence or the new Riding School. Other places received smaller amounts, making the total expenditure in the Territories $1,139,774.12. The figures for Moose Jaw are not given, for the simple reason that there has never been one cent of Government money expended on public buildings in the town. The above expenditures were, no doubt, made in the public interest and to meet the requirements of the towns mentioned, but surely Moose Jaw was entitled to something. That we have succeeded, unaided, in building up a town, second to none of them, speaks well for the energy and enterprise of our citizens, but the necessity for a building that could be used as a Court House and Post Office has often been greatly felt. The Board of Trade has repeatedly, through our representative, Mr. Davin, called the attention of the Government to this matter and in every instance were informed that the claims of Moose Jaw would be considered but nothing has, so far been done. Sir Hector Langevin, Minister of Public Works, is now in the North West en route to the coast, and will pass through Moose Jaw in a few days. We would strongly urge on the Town Council and the Board of Trade the advisability of having a deputation interview the Minister and state our case fairly and squarely to him. The neglect of the Government is not caused by any antipathy on their part to Moose Jaw but on account of not understanding all the circumstances in connection with the case.

John R. Clarke, one of the most popular lecturers on the American platform arrived in the city this afternoon and is staying at the Leland house. He will go on to-morrow to Neepawa and Minnedosa and will return to this city and deliver two lectures in Zion church, on Monday and Tuesday evenings, 8th and 9th inst. Mr. Clarke is now one of the leading attractions of the Redpath Lyceum Bureau of Boston. His present trip to the Northwest includes Manitoba, the Territories and British Columbia.—Winnipeg Tribune.

The Waterloo Delegation.

The delegation of farmers from Waterloo County, Ont., who spent two days last week examining the land in the Moose Jaw district left on Friday morning, accompanied by Mr. R. L. Alexander, for Prince Albert. Before leaving the following resolution was unanimously passed by them and handed to us for publication:—

"We, the undersigned members of the Delegation from Waterloo Coy., Ont., have spent two days, driving out in various directions from Moose Jaw, and have examined the soil. We consider the soil on the whole, excellent. We find considerable land yet available for purchase conveniently located and at moderate prices The only drawback we see is the water question. Moose Jaw is a stiring town in a good location, and with enterprising inhabitants. Homesteads are also yet available, but not close to town. The future of this part of the North West promises so well that it merits, in our opinion, an examination by any one looking for a home in this Canada of ours. We acknowledge the kindness and courtesy of the Town Officials and the C. P. R. Co., in showing us the country, and giving all possible information. Signed,

GREATER CANADA.

The comparative study of land areas has many underlying truths which are not seen at first. The striking contrasts in extent, location, climate, soil and physical features of land areas make impressions upon our minds which are not easily effaced, and reveal hidden facts of great value.

Canada is the largest of all the British possessions, comprising nearly one half of the British Empire. It covers more than one fourteenth part of the earth's surface, and therefore holds no mean position in the affairs of men. The whole continent of Europe is only one hundred and forty six thousand square miles larger than Canada. The area of the Dominion is estimated to contain three million, six hundred and ten thousand, two hundred and fifty seven square miles. It is nearly thirty times larger than Great Britain and Ireland, and about eighteen thousand square miles larger than the United States, including Alaska.

Greater Canada lies west of Ontario. Toronto has been the centre of civilization for the Dominion, but that is already changing, and no more appropriate advice can be given to our college graduates, enterprising men of business, and farmer's sons, than "Go West, Young Man!"

The centres of population must remain for some years east of the great lakes, but these too will follow the centres of land areas and civilization.

The city of Winnipeg lies nearly midway between the oceans and may for all practical purposes be fitly called the hub of the Dominion.

The introductory sentence in Principal Grant's "Ocean to Ocean" brings this forcibly to our minds. He says: "Travel a thousand miles up the St. Lawrence; another thousand on great lakes and a wilderness of lakelets and streams; a thousand miles across prairies and up the valley of the Saskatchewan; and nearly a thousand through woods and over great ranges of mountains, and you have travelled from ocean to ocean through Canada."

Great ignorance prevails in Great Britain and the United States, and even in eastern Canada, respecting the area of the Dominion, and especially of that part of it which I have designated Greater Canada. Let us see what the land areas contain:

Manitoba has an area of 60,520 square miles; this is larger than England and Wales, which contain 58,764 it is larger than the State of New York which has 47,000; it is 4,000 square miles larger than Michigan with 56,243. Pensylvania has an area of 46,000 square miles; it is much greater than Illinois, which contains 55,405 square miles.

The District of Saskatchewan has an area of 114,000 square miles; this is nearly as large as Italy, which has an area of 114,410; it is 8,000 square miles less than Nebraska, which has 122,007; It is larger than Colorado, which has an area of 105,818; it has a larger area than the combined States of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, New Jersey and Delaware which contain 113,307; it is nearly as large as New England, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and South Carolina combined, with an area of 115,987.

Alberta has an area of 100,000 square miles; this is larger than Illinoise and Ohio, which together contain 95,369 square miles. It is nearly as large as Oregon with 102,606. Colorado has an area of 105,818.

Assiniboia has an area of 95,000 square miles; this is larger than Great Britain with 88,584; it is nearly as large as Minnesota which contains 95,274. The combined areas of Maine, New York, Massachusetts and New Hampshire contain 95,846.

Verily, "No pent up Utica contracts our Powers!"

There lie within the land areas of Greater Canada, vast tracts of land capable of development whose extent is bewildering to the social and political economist and the eye of the observant traveller fails to grasp the magnificent distances of even our prairie lands.

The following comparison is especially significant to every loyal Canadian:

The areas of land lying in Greater Canada embracing within the provisional districts of Kewatin, Alberta, Assiniboia, Athabasca, Saskatchewan and the other Territories lying north of these districts, are greater in extent than the combined areas of the following countries:—England and Wales, Scotland, Ireland, France, German Empire, Greece, Italy, Portugal, Spain Switzerland, Japan, China, exclusive of her dependencies, Norway and Sweeden. The former areas contain 2,647,730 square miles, and the latter have a combined area of 2,639,187.

What will be the future of this great country? We are burdened with responsibilities in seeking the welfare of the Dominion, and to every man there is given a task to aid by his influence in establishing centres of population in the western world.

ROBIN RUSTLER.

The South Eastern Part of the Moose Jaw District.

South of the C. P. R. track and south east of the town of Moose Jaw, lies an extensive stretch of fine land. Until last season this part of the district was but thinly settled, parties wishing homesteads preferring to go north and west of the town. Last fall and spring a large nuber of good settlers attracted by the fine appearance of the land located in the townships southand south east of Pasqua. Although the crops in that locality have this season been lighter than those of other localities, on account of drought the land has proven in past seasons, where cropped, to be equal to that of any other part of the district. The new settlers relying on the past experience of those who have been for a number of years settled in this section have gone to work to make for themselves comfortable homes, and get as much land as possible ready for next season's crop. A school is now in operation at Pasqua, and another is being talked of in the Coventry settlement. Township 16, range 24, is thus described in the Surveyors' notes, and may be taken as a fair sample of the land as far south as the Moose Jaw creek—"Undulating prairie, very hummocky, soil, heavy clay, class 1 throughout; good agricultural land, suitable for grain growing." —W. PEARCE, 1881. "Slightly undulating prairie, soil clay loam, with clay subsoil; class 1.—J. L. REID, 1883. In township 12 the Dirt Hills or Missouri Coteau begin and extend south to the International boundary line. The land is rough and hilly, better suited for grazing than farming, and will make a fine ranching country. The tops of the hills are gravelly and stony. The soil in the valleys is good and hay of the flat grass variety abundant. Where not destroyed by fire, there is plenty of wood in the ravines. Ponds and small lakes of splendid water are numerous, and are the resort of countless numbers of wild fowl. Townships 9, 10, 11, 12 are described as "first-class pasture land." Mr. T. E. McWilliams has quite an extensive cattle ranche on Sec 28, Tp. 12. He has over 100 head of cattle which are all in prime condition, and for which he procures an abundant supply of hay within easy reach among the hills. On Mr. McWilliam's section is a regular mountain of pottery clay, which has been pronounced by experts to be equal to the famous Bristol clay of England. Its distance from the railway has prevented its being developed, but Mr. Mr. McWilliams has strong and well founded hopes of yet turning it to immense advantage. South east of Mr. McWilliam's place among the hills a Half Breed named Pontree has a small ranche consisting of about forty head of cattle and twelve horses, all of which, except his milch cows, grazed out during the whole of last winter and came through in good condition. This is a remarkable circumstance, considering the severity of the season on the plains. Mr. R. Martin has also established himself in Tp 12, with about 75 head of cattle which number he will increase at an early date. He has now men at work putting up his winter's supply of hay.

BANFF.

Some days ago H. Morgan, Post Master at Anthracite, was arrested on a charge of taking money from a registered letter. He was held by the N. W. M. Police here, but the other day he quietly walked out of the Barracks while the police were at breakfast, and nothwithstanding a vigorous search was made for him, nothing has been heard of him since Morgan is a son of Judge Morgan of Ottawa......Last Sunday was a good day for Clergymen here. There were no less than two Bishops, three English Church Clergymen, three Presbyterian, and two Methodist Clergymen. In the morning Dr. King, of Manitoba College, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church, and in the evening the Bishop of Huron conducted English Church service in the C P. R. hotel.....Lake Minnewonka is a beautiful sheet of water, two miles wide by about twenty miles in length. It is reached after a nine mile drive over a first class road through most enchanting scenery. The lake is of unknown depth, and has generally a clear blue color, but as the rays of light are reflected from the almost perpendicular walls of the mountains, by which it is surrounded, the shades of coloring thrown upon this immense canvas by the hand of nature, are indescribably beautiful. Fish are plentiful and trout weighing from five to forty five pounds have been taken out of it. Besides a number of small boats there is a steam launch capable of carrying twenty passengers. There is a comfortable hotel at the lake and a full line of fishing tackle is kept for hire. Every tourist to the Park should see Lake Minnewonka.... Among the many tourists at present in the Park are: Principal Ferguson of University of Glasgow, Scotland, Principal King of Manitoba College, Bishop of Huron, Bishop of Nova Scotia and Supt. White of the C. P. R. ......Dr. Brett and family leave tonight for an extended tour through the Territories......Miss Mitchell leaves to-night to join her parents at Brandon ......Rev. C. W. Gordon goes to Calgary this week, to attend a meeting of the Presbytery.....“Dad Ensley and wife have returned to Medicine Hat... Mrs. H. Ransford who has been ailing for some time, is now recovering...... The public school re-opened on Monday morning with a full attendance of pupils.——Our "Pedagogus" has been noticed putting time in pretty regular on the river during the last two weeks presumably for the purpose of working up a sufficient amount of muscle to enable him to "wield the rod" with effect ......During the vacation the Trustees had the old cracked bell replaced by a new one, and a rustic fence built enclosing the school ground. Banff has now one of the neatest little school houses in the Territories..... The Lew Johnson show was considerable of a fizzle. This is probably owing to the fact that they had a very small house. The singing was poor, the jokes were exceedingly stale, and the acting stilted.... Dr. Brett has the contract of putting up all the hay in the Park this year, and has a gang of ten men at work. The weather for the last few days has not been favorable for this work, being quite showery.

The Lew Johnston (Colored) Company gave an entertainment in Campbell's Hall, on Wednesday evening, which although fairly well patronized was a fizzle. Such troupes should be given a cold reception when they visit a town. The jokes were coarse and the singing poor.

Rev. G. F. McCullugh, of Colbourg, Ont., preached an eloquent sermon in the Methodist pulpit last Sunday evening. He is on his way to Prince Albert to take charge of the Methodist Church there, and stopped over at Moose Jaw to renew several old acquaintances. He is a young man of much promise, and we expect to hear of his success in the Prince Albert country.

The following notice of the death of Capt. Chalmers, brother of our townsman Mr. J. G. Chalmers, is taken from the Fraserburgh Herald of July 22nd, 1890. "Death of a Fraserburgh Shipmaster—Captain Francis Chalmers, (son of the late Mr. William Chalmers, baker, here) has just died at his residence in South Shields. Captain Chalmers's career has been a promising one, and the news of his death will bring feelings of regret to many who had the privilege of his acquaintance. He served his time with Captain Milne, late of this port, but now residing at Aberdeen. After his apprenticeship he got through the necessary examinations very quickly, and on becoming master, soon found his way into an important command. For the last 14 or 15 years Captain Chalmers has sailed master of different vessels owned by Messrs. Fisher, Renwick & Co., of Shields, and being the senior captain of the fleet, has in succession commanded each of 14 or 16 new vessels that the firm have launched. He is spoken of highly by his owners. He was firm in authority and brought a kindly manner to bear on the discharge of his duties. Lately he sailed in the Black Sea, and on the West Coast of Africa. Capt. Chalmers's illness was contracted ten weeks ago at Gibraltar. He was brought home and died at his own residence on the 14th instant. Dropsy with a complication of other troubles was the cause of death. He was in his 48th year, and leaves a wife and an only daughter.

BIRTHS.

BIRBECK—In Moose Jaw, on August 31st, the wife Mr. Thomas Birbeck, of a son.

SHIELDS—In Moose Jaw, on the 3rd inst., the wife of Mr. John Shields, of a son.

DEATHS.

BOLE—In Moose Jaw, on the 5th inst., Willie, eldest son of Mr. W. W. Bole, aged 2 years and 3 months.

A MOSSIDE STORY.—I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and Pills and find them everything to me. I had dyspepsia with bad breath and bad appetite, but after a few day's use of B. B. B. I felt stronger, could eat a good meal and I felt myself a different man.
W. H. STORY, Mosside, Ont.

UNBEARABLE AGONY.—For three days I suffered severely from summer complaint, nothing gave me relief and I kept getting worse until the pain was almost unbearable, but after I had taken the first dose of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, I found great relief and it did not fail to cure me.
WM. T. GLYNN, Wilfrid, Ont.

A RASH KNIGHT.—Mr. Reuben Knight, of Morris, Man., states that he was troubled with a rash all over his body which was cured with less than one bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters. He highly recommends it as a blood purifier of the greatest efficacy.

A LETTER FROM EMERSON.—"I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and I think it the best remedy for summer complaint. It has done a great deal of good to myself and children.". Yours Truly,
MRS. WM. WHITELY, Emerson, Man.

THE SAMBRO LIGHTHOUSE is at Sambro, N. S., whence Mr. R. E. Hartte, writes as following.—"Without a doubt Burdock Blood Bitters has done me a lot of good, I was sick and weak and had no appetite, but B. B. B. made me feel smart and strong. Were its virtues more widely known, many lives would be saved.

STICK TO THE RIGHT.—Right actions spring from right principles. In cases of diarrhoea, dysentery, cramps, colic, summer complaints, cholera morbus, etc., the right remedy is Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—an unfailing cure—made on the principle that nature's remedies are best. Never travel without it.

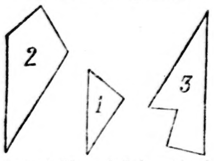
No. 728.—Enigma: A Little Fairy.

Within my walls of silver
  A little fairy lives,
Whose presence in a household
  Great joy and comfort gives.

She sows no tares of anger,
  And ugly weeds that spoil,
But to sew tears in garments
  She willingly will toil.

Now, name this useful fairy,
  Her shining palace, too,
Her clever, nimble sisters,
  Who all her bidding do.

No. 729.—A Cut Up Puzzle.



First cut out, with a penknife, in pasteboard or card,
  The designs numbered one, two and three—
Four of each—after which, as the puzzle is hard,
  You had better be guided by me
To a certain extent; for in fixing take care
  That each portion is fitted in tight,
Or they will not produce such a neat little square
  As they otherwise would if done right.

No. 730.—Beheadings Transposed.

Each word contains five letters. The beheaded letters form the name of a famous naturalist.

Behead an extensive mountain range, and transpose the remaining letters to make a word meaning the objects aimed at.

Behead imposing; transpose to make to mend.

Behead to diminish; transpose to make a stroke.

Behead to strike down; transpose to make opportunity.

Behead possessing flavor; transpose to make settled.

Behead a reflection; transpose to make a contest.

Behead an animal; transpose to make an animal.

No. 731.—A Charade.

My first, like a laggard, is always behind.
In the form of one thousand my second you'll find.
And yet, for my whole should you search the world round,
In the morning or evening, 'twill never be found.

No. 732.—A Rhyming Numerical Enigma.

1. A word in much demand, 'tis true,
   Is this little word, 5, 1, 2.
2. A well known foreign plant you'll see,
   Is spelled by using 5, 2, 3.
3. This very morn I found alive
   In my new trap a 4, 2, 5.
4. If you would hear a little more,
   You must lend your 2, 3, 4.
5. "There is nothing new under the sun,"
   Is said on 2, 3, 4, 5, 1.
6. Because my boy fell on the floor,
   Fell many a 5, 2, 3, 4.
7. A statement 'gainst which none will strive,
   All have a 1, 2, 3, 4, 5.

No. 733.—A Riddle.

Back and down trodden is my line,
  Yet you may not despise,
For surely I was made to shine
  Before admiring eyes.
Of all my wanderings o'er the earth,
  Though lightly you may talk,
Your understanding owns my worth
  And blameless daily walk.

No. 734.—An Animal in Anagram.

I saw on the street a descendant of Ham,
  Not ill o' disease, but "ill o' a dram,"
This anagram straightened you've seen, I suppose,
  In pictures, and, mayhap, in animal shows;
And if you have seen it you've noticed the lack
  Of even a semblance of fur on its back.

No. 735.—Enigmatical Fishes.

A substance used for polishing; to find fault; a beam of light; a register of persons; a weapon; a person easily cheated; a measure of length.

A Pastime for Winter Evenings.

The "Flour Merchant" is the name of one of the many conversational games that are so convenient for whiling away an evening by the fireside because they are not noisy and require no special appliances.

One who personates the flour merchant will try in every way to dispose of his stock by asking questions of the others, who must in their answers be careful not to use the words "flour," "I," "yes" or "no." For instance, the merchant says:

"Any flour to-day?"
"There is none required."
"Let me persuade you to take some."
"That is impossible."
"Why so? It is excellent flour."
"You have my answer."
"Have I? Will you please repeat it?"
"My answer was 'Not any.'"
"But the price is reasonable."
"I will not take any."

The flour merchant, having succeeded in making her say "I," proceeds on his way.

At Christmas Tide.

Jack and Jill went down the hill,
  To do their Christmas shopping;
It soon fell out that Jill did pout,
  And Jack with rage was hopping.
For all their cash they spent for trash,
  The treasures home they bore;
A Chinese vase, a pocket case,
  And rugs and mats galore!

December closes on the scene,
  And what appear the months gone past!
Fragments of time which once have been!
  Succeeding slowly, fled too fast!
Their minutes, hours, and days appear

Small Points.

A servant once preached a whole sermon on etiquette for a housekeeper in one sentence. "How can Mrs. —— expect her servants to treat her politely," said she, "when she is so disrespectful to them?" Respect cannot exist on one side only. It must be given if it is exacted.

It is proper to leave cards at the house during the wedding reception if you can do so. If not, send them on the wedding day or immediately after.

The census of the British Islands will be taken on April 5th, 1891. The reason why Sunday is selected, is that more people are at their homes on that day than on any other day in the week. The census is taken on the de facto system and it is necessary to be very particular in the enumeration, in order that all may be counted. In the United States the de jure system is adopted and the same system will be followed in Canada next year.

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 30—Two cars of wheat were received at the elevator here yesterday. They were the first of this season's growth and graded No. 1 hard.

It is claimed that Montreal has a population of only 220,000, while the recent census was expected to show 245,000.

Calgary's rate of taxation to meet the expenses of the current year has been fixed at 2 cents on the dollar.

A Present to our Subscribers!

It is with pleasure that we announce to our patrons that we have made arrangements with that wide-awake, illustrated farm magazine, the AMERICAN FARMER, published at Fort Wayne, Ind., and read by nearly 200,000 farmers by which that great publication will be mailed direct, FREE, to the address of any of our subscribers who will come in and pay up all arrears on subscription and one year in advance from date, and to any new subscriber who will pay one year in advance. This is a grand opportunity to obtain a first class journal free. The AMERICAN FARMER is a large 16-page journal, of national circulation, which ranks among the leading agricultural papers. It treats the question of economy in agriculture and the rights and privileges of that vast body of citizens—Farmers—whose industry is the basis of all material and national prosperity. Its highest purpose is the elevation and ennobling of Agriculture through the higher and broader education of men and women engaged in its pursuits. The regular subscription price of the AMERICAN FARMER is $1.00 per year. IT COSTS YOU NOTHING. From any one number, ideas can be obtained that will be worth thrice the subscription price to you or members of your household, yet you get it free. Call and see sample copy.

A Lucky Fellow.

Tom (speaking of a friend, lately deceased)—Poor Brownson possessed a great many good traits of character, didn't he?

Joe—Yes, he did; and besides that, he was one of the luckiest men I ever knew. He got his life insured against accident and was killed the very next day. How is that for luck?—Yankee Blade.

Progress in China is exemplified by the recent imperial edict that "the sovereign is of opinion that, to make a country powerful, railways are essential." There is still great opposition to railways in that country, and the edict is in aid of the first road openly constructed in China—the great trunk line between Peking and Hankow.

A new substitute for glass, where this will not endure vibrations or other unfavorable conditions, is reported in the form of a transparent netting of finely woven wire with warp and weft threads about half an inch apart and covered on both sides with thick translucent varnish. It is said to be pliable and unbreakable.

Dr. Dulin, who was elected coroner of Christian county, Ky., and the only negro ever elected to any office in Kentucky, lately has discovered that he is ineligible, and addressed to his constituents a card in which he observes: "After diagnosing the constitution of the state of Kentucky, I find that my prognosis is unfavorable."

Parents themselves must observe good table manners, or they cannot expect them of their children. And a certain length of time should be devoted to each meal—at least twenty minutes to breakfast and lunch or tea, and thirty to dinner. The rapidly eating child, learning that it cannot leave the table before the end of the allotted time, will slow up.

Hamilton Spectator:—The future of the North West is now assured. In some seasons the crops will probably suffer from summer frosts. This evil will grow less as the country becomes settled, the swamps are drained, and trees are planted; and it will to a great extent be obviated by early seeding, and the introduction of early varieties. The settler's heart grows glad as he looks out on his wide fields of waving grain, and feels that the harvest of a single year will pay his land and all his machinery he has on it. Senator McInnis, who has just returned from the Northwest, saw one farmer who had 320 acres of land; 160 acres were pre-empted at $2.50 an acre. He had 210 acres in one wheat field, from which he expected to take 5,250 bushels, worth about $5,000. Is it any wonder that people are flocking to our North West? Is it any wonder that those who are there, notwithstanding some reverses, are now filled with hope and gladness, able to thank God and take courage.

The smudge experiment was tried during one night last week by Mr. Hugh McDonald. He noticed the mercury running low and getting dangerously near the frost line. He then started his smudges and the smoke spread over and settled down on the grain field, the thermometer at the same time marking one degree warmer Minnedosa Tribune.

A mass meeting of the Irishmen of Winnipeg will be held shortly to raise funds for the famine stricken sufferers in the old land.

Battleford people going east now drive to Saskatoon instead of Swift Current as formerly, thus saving three days on the trip.

FACTS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE!

TO FARMERS OF CANADA AND THE WORLD

THE BRANTFORD LIGHT STEEL BINDER.

WE do not claim to have received a Gold Medal at Paris, although we received two Silver Medals, but we DO CLAIM:—

FIRST—To have defeated the Massey (Toronto) Binder in every competition in the world, where we have met it on an equal footing.

SECOND—During the season of 1889–90, in Australasia, the "Brantford" defeated all the leading binders of the World. See list of victories.

THIRD—In the Australasian competitions the "Brantford" Binder defeated the Massey (Toronto) SIX TIMES; or EVERY TIME the two binders came into competition the "Brantford" was victorious. See list of Victories.

FOURTH—The "Brantford" binder replaced every other binder of any consequence made in Canada in 1889. That is, where other makes of NEW binders failed and were returned, the "Brantford" was purchased and successfully finished the work.

FIFTH—We challenge any one to point to a single instance where a new "Brantford" has been returned through failure to do its work.

SIXTH—A great many more "Brantford" binders were sold in Canada in 1889 than of any OTHER MAKE, and as many as were sold by FOURTEEN other Canadian makers put together.

SEVENTH—The "Brantford" binder is a "Home" machine and has a "Home" record without a single defeat in any kind of crop, used by hundreds of satisfied farmers in all the provinces of the Dominion.

EIGHTH—The "Brantford" Binder, as sold "at home," is specially designed and built for home trade, and is particularly adapted to the needs of Canadian farms and farmers. For foreign countries it is built to suit the peculiarities of the land and crop prevailing where it is sold.
